

Optimization Training Trailer

Premier Integrated Technologies is proud to offer training services for producers who are interested in continuing their education, awareness, and safe operation of Optimization products and services.

This training can be generic or very specific depending on your level of operations experience and understanding of well optimization. PIT will also look specifically at your operations, and equipment, and then tailor a training session to your needs. PIT has developed a mobile training unit for these sessions and special events which enables us to show these products and services. With our live well model we can demonstrate how flowing gas wells function and how they are affected by different changes in their lifespan or completion design, as well as the differences between Pacemaker and Conventional plunger operation. We also have step by step animation videos of our different plunger lines in action. PIT offers a combination of classroom power-point shows and live demonstrations in our trailer and can prepare lunch for your group on site.

For some of our customers we offer several training sessions throughout the year. For example we have specific sessions on Plunger Control, Plunger operation, Oil optimization, Downhole equipment, Inspection and Maintenance and Competency training.

For information on these training seminars please feel free to contact us to discuss an event for you.
